

Coprosma 'Inferno'

A stunning new Coprosma which has brilliant foliage colours throughout the year! During the summer the leaves are bright shades of orange, yellow and lime green then as soon as the weather cools down the foliage turns brilliant flaming red.

Description

Coprosma are amongst the most well known of garden shrubs. They are hardy and long lasting. Growth is compact and the foliage is glossy and colourful. These Coprosma have been bred for the unique feature where the foliage changes colour as the seasons change, the cooler the weather gets, the darker the foliage gets. By mid winter the whole shrub will turn 'inferno red'. Plant amongst green shrubs in your garden for a splash of bright colour.

Growing Situation and Care Notes

A very hardy shrub which will tolerate most situations in the garden providing they have adequate drainage. They will tolerate some degree of frost but will need protection if the weather is severe. 'Inferno' will naturally stay compact but can be trimmed to shape as required.
