

Polemonium ‘Snow and Sapphires’

A must-have in your garden. This outstanding evergreen Jacob’s Ladder has striking, finely variegated foliage giving an overall impression of a tufted mound of delicate light, subtly variegated leaflets. An eye-catching display either mass planted in a border or in a pot as a most unusual specimen. A bonus is the fragrant, deep sapphire blue flower spikes which emerge in late summer (Images top and bottom)

Polemonium ‘Stairway to Heaven’

A more compact Polemonium, ‘Stairway to Heaven’ has cream and green variegated foliage giving an overall impression of a mound of delicate but boldly variegated leaflets. But wait! There’s more!. As weather cools in Autumn the variegation develops showy coral pink accents as shown. An eye-catching display either mass planted in a border or in a pot as a most unusual specimen. In addition light blue flower spikes emerge in late summer. (Image Centre right)

Growing Situation and Care Notes

Group plant Polemoniums in sun to semi shade for best effect. Suitable pot or container plant. Hardy evergreen perennial. Do not allow to dry out in sunny conditions. Protect from intense afternoon sun. You can cut back, feed and water for a flush of beautiful new growth if desired
